Super Fast Domain Cash

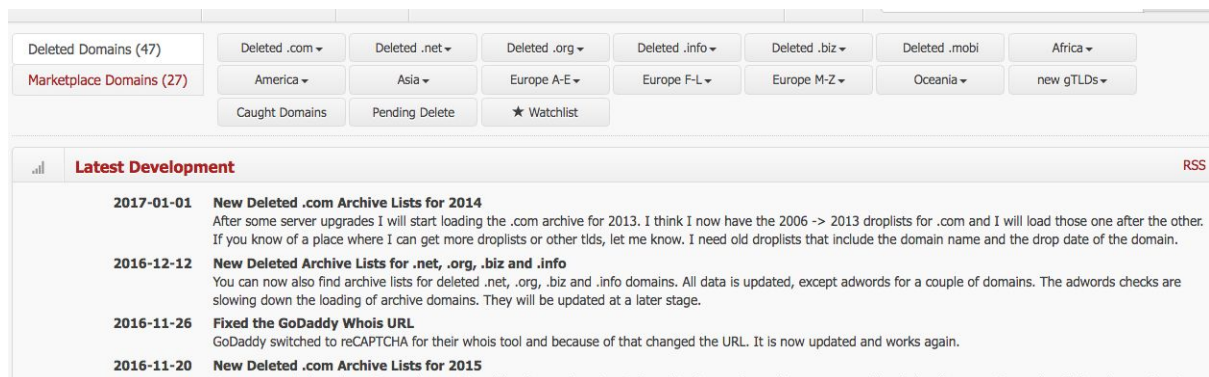

With this ingenious domain name flipping method you will sell newly registered .com domain names to (new) business owners that are craving to buy it from you.

With this method you will be targeting (new) online businesses that have registered a second choice domain name. You will be offering them THEIR first choice domain name.

With this method you will be registering a .com domain name for a few bucks which you can then literally sell sometimes as quick as within a few hours to a business owner who is more than happy to pay you $100, $200 or more for it.

Ok, without further ado, pay attention, here we go.

First what you do is you go to expireddomains.net, if you don't have an account there just make one, its free. Log in and you will see the following screen:

Click on the Deleted .com tab and select the first option Deleted .com Domains (...)

This will show you all the .com domain names that were registered before and have just become available again for the public to register again.

Now Click on Show Filter

What are the domain names that we are after? Glad you asked!

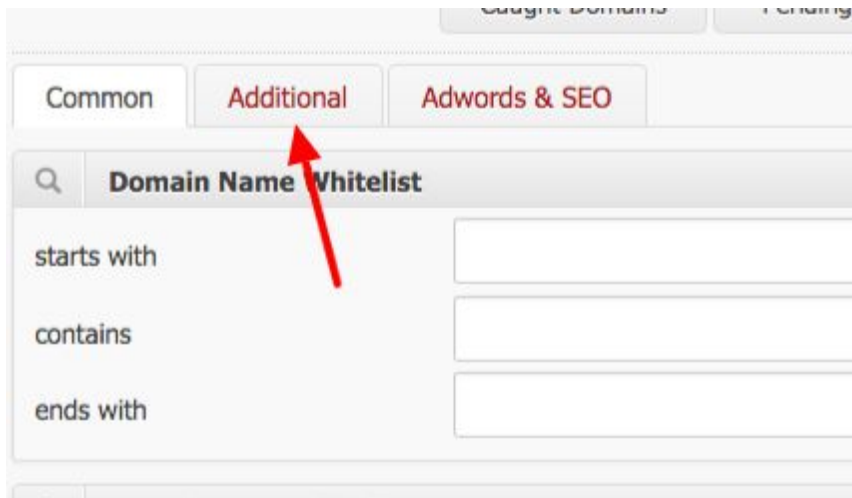

We are after .COM domain names that:

1. have become available in the last 24 hours. You can change this to a week or more depending on how much domain names you want to find, but the further back in time you will go the less relevant this method will be. You will understand this later.
2. have the .net version already been taken.
3. are available for registration

So, to accomplish this just check the box only new last 24 hours in the Listing Settings section.

Now select the second tab called Additional

From here go ahead and check the box .com in the Name in selected TLD is available section, and check the box .net in the Name in selected TLD is registered section and click on the Apply Filter Button

You will now get a list of all the .com domain names that have become available again in the last 24 hours that have the .net versions registered and are available to register immediately.

In this case there are more the 1300 .com domain names that matched our criteria. We will now have to find out which of these already registered .net domain names have been registered by business owners that were registering this second choice .net version because their first choice .com version was already registered at that time. Ok, so how do we do this.

First save this list to a txt file using the txt button

Now we got a txt file with a list of all these domains that will look something like this:

digiyogi.com
tiendacity.com paroquiasantaluzia.com takethiscountryback.com natural-asthma-treatment.com fazlayok.com afterbeep.com freeresearcher.com
etc

Now use find and replace in your favorite text editor to change this list of .com names into a list of .net names

digiyogi.net tiendacity.net paroquiasantaluzia.net takethiscountryback.net natural-asthma-treatment.net fazlayok.net afterbeep.net freeresearcher.net
etc

Using a text tool we now must add <http://www>. in front of each name. An easy way to do this is to use a free online tool like this one:

<http://textmechanic.com/text-tools/basic-text-tools/add-prefixsuffix-into-line/>

But it can also be done in Excel or Openoffice etc

Your list should look now something like this:

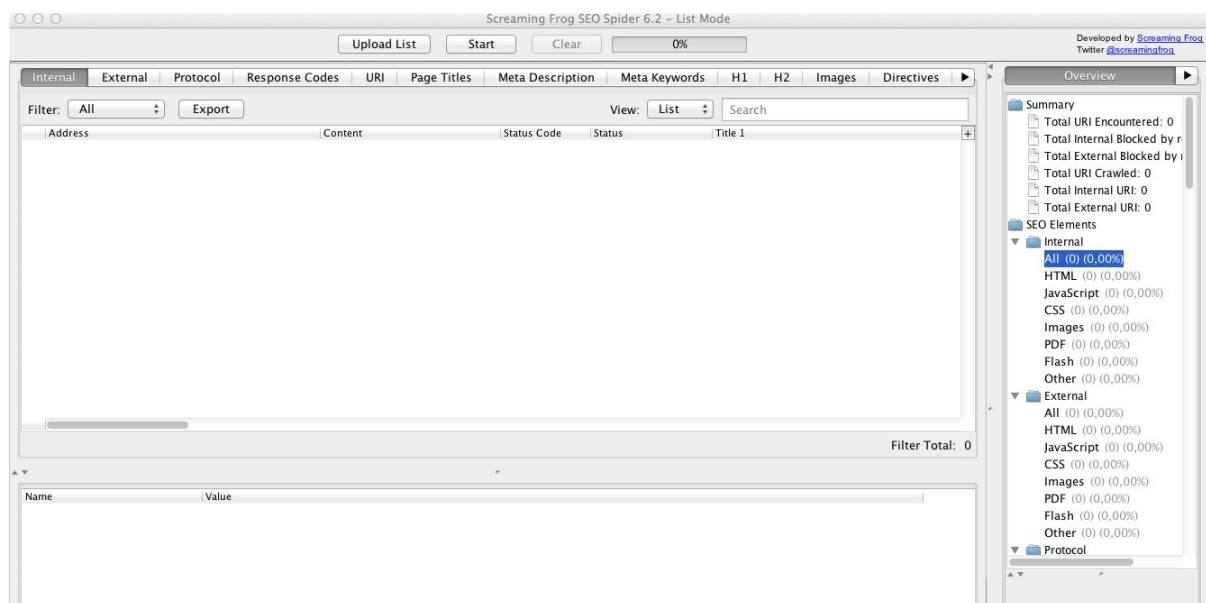

http://www.digiyogi.net
http://www.tiendacity.net
http://www.paroquiasantaluzia.net http://www.takethiscountryback.net http://www.natural-asthma-treatment.net http://www.fazlayok.net
http://www.afterbeep.net
http://www.freeresearcher.net

etc

All these domain names are already registered but we are only after the ones that also have a website, not the domain names that are just parked. To find out which domain names have active websites we will use a free tool called Screaming Frog which you can download for here: <https://www.screamingfrog.co.uk/seo-spider/>

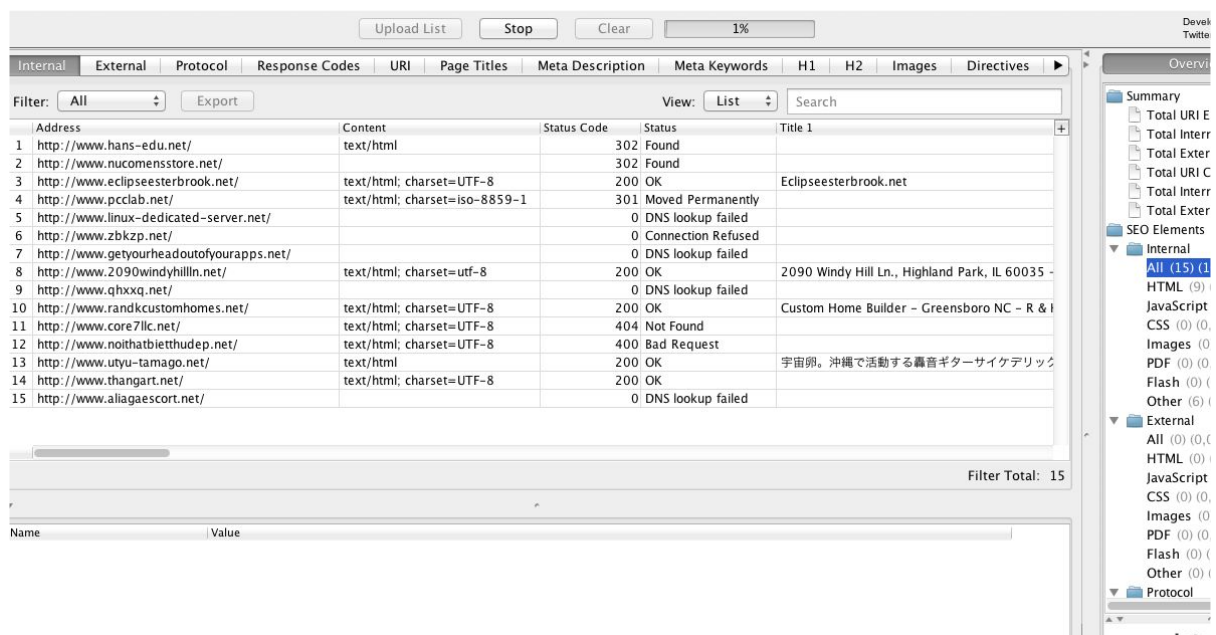

Install this and open the program. It will look something like this (I am on a Mac, PC version might look a bit different)

Now click on the button upload list and upload your edited list. What I normally do is copy paste the list in here using the paste option.

The program will now go to work to check which websites are active

When done click on the column Status and look for all the websites that have the status OK. This is your GOLD List, these are all the .NET websites that are active which you know the .com domain name has just become available.

Check these websites in your web browser and pick the ones that are businesses and you have a very VERY good chance the owner of that website is happy to pay you a pretty penny to get his hands on the .COM domain name. Make sure you register the .com domain name first before you contact the owner of the .net version.

Tip 1: Very Important: Register your new domain names with Dotster.com, they are one of the biggest and most trusted registrars. You will have a big chance that your potential buyer has an account their already so you don't have to switch registrars when you close the deal which means you can sell the domain name minutes after you have registered it. You can also use other registrars but I have noticed that the transfer process after you sold a domain name is by far the smoothest with Dotster.com.

Tip 2: When contacting your potential buyer the way you approach them is crucial to your success. Don't overhype it is what you are offering to them, include your full contact details, let me know you are a real person and let them know exactly how they would benefit from owning their first choice domain name (less typos, better brand recognition, etc)

THIS METHOD ALONE CAN MAKE YOU VERY GOOD CASH BUT THINK OUTSIDE THE BOX!

here are a few more suggestions you can do along these lines but I am sure you can think up many more:

What if you can offer the owner of crazyfoods.com the domain name crazyfood.com? Do you think he would go for it? I would think so!

Make a list of .com domain names that have become available using expireddomains.net, download it, put an S after every domain name and use screamingfrog to find out which of these domain names have active websites!

What if you can offer the owner of happy-thoughts the domain name happythoughts.com? Do you think he would go for it? I would think so!

Make a list of two word .com domain names that have become available using expireddomains.net, download the list in CSV format, put an - between the two words of the domain name and use screamingfrog to find out which of these domain names have active websites!

What if you can offer the owner of amazingshopping.eu the domain name amazingshopping.com? Do you think he would go for it? I would think so!

What if you can offer the owner of amazingproductsinc.com the domain name amazingproducts.com? Do you think he would go for it? I would think so!

ETC, ETC, there is a lot of almost instant cash to be made and the only limitation is your imagination.

To your Success,
Rody Oversloot
